BAILEY WILL CONTROL

The State Convention—His Adherents Had Their Eyes on Precinct Conventions Saturday.

Galveston News, May 6:

With practically complete returns from last Saturday's primaries, the News' reports show that out of a total vote of 227,278 thus accounted for, Senator Bailey has a majority of 21,306 of the popular vote, and that he will have more than two-thirds of the delegates vote in the state convention at Fort Worth.

In quite a number of counties carried by Johnson in the primaries, the county conventions were captured by the Bailey forces and elected Bailey delegates to the Fort Worth convention. This was notably true in Coleman, Comanche, Brown, Williamson and Wood counties. This action, taken on yesterday, makes it manifest that the Bailey forces were better organized and gave closer attention to the precinct conventions on last Saturday. The most material effect of this work is that although Johnson carried the Tenth Congressional District by more than 800 votes, Bailey will have twenty out of the thirty-one delegate votes from that district in the state convention, which presages the election of Bailey delegates from that district to the Denver convention. In the Third District and in the Eleventh District, both of which were carried by Johnson, the Johnson delegates will predominate in the state convention, notwithstanding the fact that Wood county, which is in the Third District, sent a Bailey delegation to the state convention, although that county was carried by Johnson. In the Third District Bailey will have seventeen votes out of a total of thirty-seven, and in the Eleventh District he will have nine votes out of a total of thirty-seven.

Complete returns from the Fifth District show Bailey carried it by the narrow margin of 103 votes. He will have twenty-three delegates out of the forty-three in that district.

All of the counties in Texas together are entitled to 643 votes in the state convention. Twenty-five of them held no county conventions. This will reduce the total vote to 603. Reports received by the News last night cover 481 votes.

Most of the counties instructed for Bryan for president and many of them for Bailey for vice president. Jefferson county indorsed Bailey for president in the event Mr. Bryan should not be nominated.

In the Galveston county convention, which was headed by ex-Congressman Miles Crowley, a resolution to indorse Bryan was voted down.

In the county conventions which were dominated by anti-Bailey people resolutions were passed calling for the enactment of a law to prohibit United States senators and congressmen from accepting employment as attorneys or counsellors for trusts or public service corporations. Similar resolutions were offered in conventions where anti-Bailey men were in the minority, and were voted down.

Senator Bailey will head the Cooke county convention at the state convention, Mr. Johnson the Smith county delegation, Judge Young the Erath county delegation, and Mr. Thomas the McLennan county delegation. Judge Nixon was the only delegate for delegate at large on ticket whose home county was against him, and the News reports not show that he was elected as a delegate to the Fort Worth convention from any county.

Mr. Owsley, an alternate on the Waco ticket, was taken care of by Dallas county.

It transpires that many of the men who were prominent in the fight for Senator Bailey suffered defeat in their home counties and had to look to other counties for credentials as delegates to Fort Worth. Judge Pindexter was doubly taken care of by Harris and Tarrant counties, as was Mr. Imboden, who suffered defeat not only in Travis county, where he now resides, but in Cherokee county, from which he recently removed. Col. T. N. Jones will also have credentials from Harris and Tarrant, and Nelson Phillips from Hill and Tarrant. Tarrant also took care of State Chairman George A. Carden, Mr. Odell and John L. Wortham of Dallas. Major George Littlefield and J. E. Lucy of Austin were elected as delegates from Harris county, and Judge Brooks from Grayson county.
